BOTH AN IMPRESSIVE SOLITAIRE AND A HARMONIC GROUP

Upon designing this vase collection, the Art Director of Moser, Jan Plecháč, drew inspiration from the passage of night and day. The opal-pink variant evokes the dawn, while the smoke-green recalls the mystical atmosphere of twilight. Each vase is an impressive solitaire, but together, they create a flawless, harmonic group. You can choose between two finishes: matte or gloss.

THE UNIQUENESS OF THE MOMENT

Since all our works are exclusively handmade, so too are the vases of the Harmonic Collection. The underlying technique gives them their culminating hues, while the distinct lines are made via the round cut method. The Harmonic vases encapsulate the uniqueness of the moment, the glassmaker's breath, and the cutter's experienced strokes. They're perfect for arrangements of wildflowers, peonies, and exotic plants.

Gloss and matte. Opal-pink and smoke-green.
Each is different, and yet together they create a perfectly harmonious collection. You can choose how to combine them in your interior.

JAN PLECHÁČ

The designer and current Art Director of Moser studied architecture at the Academy of Arts, Architecture and Design in Prague. He's won several international and domestic awards for his work and signed his name under world-class projects.

“The Harmonic vase captures fleeting moments of natural harmony and whisks them away to your home. The morning fog, the blush of dawn, or the dew in a blooming meadow – the enchanting tones of these ephemeral moments are cultivated by the gentle, precise cut from the hands of our masterful glassmakers, offering you a new perspective of the world.”
